ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A clock generator module is disclosed. A clock generator module, electrically connected with a mainboard through a connector for communicating with each other, wherein an interface definition of the clock generator communicates with a control logic circuit of the mainboard to generate a required clock frequency.